Florida State Chamber of Commerce

How; Who; What; When Is It Active?

The "How" of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce is interesting — in 1916 Jules M. Burguiere, then of West Palm Beach was the first President of the newly formed Florida Development Board, which was a renamed and rejuvenated Florida Tick Eradication Board, and which later merged into the present Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Cole served as President of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, 1935-39, and has held the position of Vice-President and General Manager since the expiration of his term, with no increase in salary.

This effort to harness, distribute and control fresh water, is acknowledged as one of the world's scientists, geologists, hydraulic engineers and conservationists as outstanding in its scope of flat-land area, population, fish, wildlife, soil and water.

The great furor created by National Park enthusiasts crying "water, water and not a drop for the birds and gators was basically brought about by Nature's tendency to interrupt its delivery of rainfall in irregular amount over short periods.

Actually, the Park administration stumbled over its own shuffling feet, through lack of a FEASIBILITY report and normal planning. THE PARK has refused to allow any works, other than Nature's in the Park — it refused to provide any method of retaining fresh water inside the park; rather it wants a continuous flow of fresh water thru the Park so that it might reach down and take whatever it wants whenever it desires, and to hell with rights of others.

The Park wants, and claims the right, to take whatever water it wants from Lake Okeechobee, without regard to historical arrangements by the Mak-e-rs.

Another contributing factor is the jealousy of the Interior Department, which the U.S. Engineers successful planning and building of Water Resources Control in the tributary Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District.

A contributing factor, also, is the thinking of Washington that ONLY the federal government should control the lives and materials of everyone in the UNITED STATES.

Competent engineers agree that not one drop of water has been, tended or kept out of the Park from overflow or discharged waters from its complementary waters. Nature, through elevation and land arrangement, has not historically allowed water from this source to flow into the Park.

Now, the Governor has promised some action by the State. Incidentally, the loud-mouths of Miami, in their blissful ignorance and sensationalism haven't considered apparently that their own source of fresh water would be greatly jeopardized if the Park's ideas were made effective.

Many of the Park enthusiasts of Dade, reporters, newspaper owners and business men who have contributed to the confusion would be WORKING for a living where the snow drifts in paralyzing depths, were it not for the fresh water from the C&SF facilities.

There is a plan outlined where the State of Florida and the C&SF FCD and the US Engineers will provide "minimum annual needs" of fresh water to the Park, and FORTY-FIVE SOURCE OF MIAMI'S FRESH WATER SUPPLY, through the generosity of their collective thinking and action, WITH OUT PENALIZING CONTIGUOUS AND DEPENDENT AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTION AND DEPENDENT POPULATIONS.

The Army Corps of Engineers will begin work at once on a temporary network of canals to divert water from Florida's Lake Okeechobee to the Everglades National Park and to the composed of veterans of wars WW I (April 8, 1917-Nov. 11, 1918); WW II (Dec. 7, 1941-Sept. 2, 1945); and the Korean War (June 25, 1950 - Jul. 27, 1953).

"It is impractical for me to know every ex-serviceman and woman in the community, but we sincerely intend to get all of them to join Everglades Post No. 20, or affiliate with us, if you're already a Legionnaire." Everglades Post No. 20 has an enviable record of community service.

Freak Accident Fatal To L. W. Moses

The new Ft. Lauderdale-Naples super highway has claimed its first victim. Dead is Mr. Leonard W. Moses, 39, of Palm Street, Belle Glade, dragline operator for the Reynolds-Smith Co., a son of a local contractor.

Robt. R. Smith And Wife In Near Fatal Accident

Mr. Robert R. Smith, 31, produce salesman for Greisinger and Sons, and his wife Peggy, 31, were rushed to Good Samaritan Hospital in West Palm Beach early Saturday morning after a near fatal car-train accident in Belle Glade.

Involved in the accident was a switch engine of the F. E. C. Railroad. Prior to the collision the Smiths were proceeding west on West Canal Street. After the crash their car went out of control, plunged down the bank of the Hillsboro Canal, but fortunately stopped short of the water. Mr. Smith was trapped in the demolished car for 30 minutes but was extricated from the wreck by Dr. John Brady with the help of the Belle Glade police.

Mr. Smith suffered a severe skull fracture and is listed in critical condition, but is still holding his own with a possible slight improvement" according to hospital reports. Mrs. Smith was operated on Wednesday for a fractured right leg and is off the critical list, although both may have internal injuries. Mrs. Smith is a teacher in the Belle Glade Elementary School.

Belle Glade police have the accident under investigation. No charges have been filed at this time.

Roberts Sees Action By Monday

The Florida Legislature convened yesterday at 11 a. m. for the last try at fairly re-apportioning the State legislative districts.

For the last twelve years the legislature has met annually in many attempts to come up with an acceptable plan to redistrict legislative seats among larger urban counties. None of the plans have met court criteria and at one time or another have been rejected, either by the court or by the public.

Word has been received that Agricultural Commissioner Doyle Conner has an opponent in his race for nomination to succeed him.

The Commissioner says: "I have tried it both ways, and prefer it like this."

Dr. James A. Silver, a native of Tracy, Minn., and a graduate of the University of his native State's Medical School, of Jackson Medical Clinic, as a general practitioner.

Dr. Silver interned at the Homestead Air Base, before practicing his profession in Clearwater for four years.

Appointments, Projects Add Up To Busy Meeting For So. Bay Commission

In further action commissioners appointed Mr. H. B. Pitts Patrolman I, and Mr. Charles Clark Patrolman II, both permanent Civil Service positions.

A police benefit dance was approved by the City Fathers, to be held March 26, 1956, and place to be announced later. Funds from the dance will be used to obtain needed equipment for both the police and fire departments. They also heard Assistant Chief Mathis' outline plans for a teenage dance to be held every Saturday night as soon as final arrangements can be made.

In other action South Bay Commissioners referred the matter of parking at the Post Office to Chief Senecal for report and recommendation.

The American Rifleman

"SHE SAYS THEY'VE HAD A TOUGH WINTER AT HOME"

The American rifleman in Vietnam is but the latest in a long line of independent and self-sufficient men who have guarded this country's independence for more than 190 years.

General Douglas MacArthur summed up the American Rifleman when he once said, "His name and fame are the birthright of every American citizen. In his youth and strength, his love and loyalty he gave all that mortality can give. He needs no eulogy from me or any other man. He has written it in red on his enemy's breast."

"But when I think of his patience in adversity, or his courage under fire and of his modesty in victory, I am filled with an emotion of admiration I cannot put into words. He belongs to history as furnishing one of the greatest examples of successful patriotism. He belongs to prosperity as the instructor of future generations in the principles of liberty and freedom. He belongs to the present, to us, by his virtues and by his achievements."

It is men trained as riflemen that fight today in Viet Nam and one of the first skills taught to the people of Viet Nam was that of self-defense with a rifle.

A man cannot be an effective soldier unless he knows how to use a rifle. A basic trainee in the Army spends over 25 percent of his first eight weeks of training learning how to shoot a rifle accurately.

In the past six years the U. S. Army has spent more than $8.5 million for range facilities.

The effectiveness of the small arm depends entirely on the skill of the man who fires it. The lessons of combat have shown time and again that effective, accurate fire power with the basic individual weapon can be a most important factor. Unquestionably, the American Rifleman — military professional or citizen-soldier — is as important today as he was in 1775.

Uncle Dan From Doolie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night got off on the subject of money and my banker should've been there. He would've got more information on this subject than he gets from that Wall Street Journal I see laying on his desk every time I go in to renew my note. What brung this matter up was Ed reporting he had saw a piece where a member of the Federal Reserve Board was perdicating computers would replace money in the "ordinary channels of trade" in the next 20 years.

According to Ed, this feller said most folks would have a cash-credit card and a number on the card would set off a computer in the store that would grind out the years all the way to the bank and back.

Personal, Mister Editor, I think somebody was pulling somebody's leg, but I ain't too shore. They say some of them big supermarkets was advertisin' chickens that was never touched by human hands from the time the egg was laid till they was in the stew pot. But Ed was serious about the matter, claimed the time would come in the Great Society when everybody would have a number tattooed on his forehead and everything would operate from a tattoo switchboard in Washington. He reported his daughter, the one that works in the city and calls dinner "lunch," already had a stack of credit cards three foot long that was wrapped in clear plastic and folded out of her pocketbook like a road map ever time she went in to buy somepup. He claims she made a mistake and put one of 'em in the collection plate last Sunday. And, according to Ed, the preacher was mighty glad to git it.

Actual, claimed Ed, it didn't make much difference no more on account of money ain't money. He said all the silver he got looked like it was made in Japan. He was of the opinion that if they'd leave the silver in our money and take the lead out of some of them Congressmen the country would be better off.

The feller that runs the store butted in and said he wanted to make just one statement. He served notice on all the fellers that, computers, credit cards or tattooed numbers, they was going to pay him with handin' out credit and Ed say he needs a cash-and-carry permit about like a tom cat needs a marriage license.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Conner's 5 Years

Doyle Conner's constructive five years as Commissioner of Agriculture, includes the following, among his many accomplishments:

FARM VOICE BROADENED—

Florida agriculture's voice was broadened nationally by Conner's service as president of the Southern Association of State Departments of Agriculture and by his appointment by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman as one of five state commissioners of agriculture to serve on a federal-state cooperative arrangements committee.

Florida's agricultural interests also are directly represented in the Cabinet, and with the Legislature. His contacts with USDA and our Congressional Delegation in Washington have been prime and effective.

REORGANIZED AGENCY

In the interests of better service to consumers and farmers, and under a legislative mandate, he completely reorganized the State Department of Agriculture during the opening stages of this administration, consolidating many far-flung agricultural activities of such heretofore independent agencies as the State Plant Board, State Livestock Board and State Market News Bureau.

He effected closer coordination among all the agricultural and food inspection activities to eliminate overlapping and duplication of service.

To establish closer contact with consumers and producers in major regions quite distant from Tallahassee, he opened regional offices in Miami and Tampa.

PROTECTION TO FLORIDA AGRICULTURE—TAX RELIEF SOUGHT—

More equitable tax assessments for Florida ranchers and growers were sought, by working closely with the State Comptroller in preparing a guidebook for county tax assessors to use in assessing of agricultural lands of the state in the future.

IMPORTS CHALLENGED

Florida producers were protected against unfair competition when he led the fight in opposition to the lowering of U. S. import duties on agricultural commodities. . . and particularly represented Florida cattlemen in allaying the crisis which arose over a heavy, price-depressing increase in beef imports.

FARM LABOR DEFENDED—

Florida's viewpoint in the farm labor controversy was forcefully represented, an instrumental factor in the recent temporary relief which has been obtained for the state's citrus and sugar cane industries. . . he very nearly spearheaded passage of a proposed bill to shift authority from the labor secretary to the secretary of agriculture. . . and he established an inter-agency committee to gather, evaluate and expedite transmission of data to labor authorities in regard to outbreaks of labor shortage in our state.

EXPLORING MARKETS—

New market outlets were sought abroad as the Commissioner visited South America and Europe to study their agriculture and determine the potential for market expansion; also a staff position was created for a specialist in export trade, a position unique among state departments of agriculture.

Washington Report by Senator Spessard Holland

SECOND BATTLE OPPOSING REPEAL OF RIGHT-TO-WORK LAWS SUCCESSFUL

The most controversial recent legislative action was the refusal of the Senate to take up the already-passed House bill which would have repealed Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, which section recognizes the right of the states to adopt state right-to-work laws.

The Senate voted twice last week on proposed "cloture" motions to shut off debate on the motion to take up this legislation, and in each instance refused to adopt cloture by such heavy votes as to show definitely that this measure cannot pass in this 89th Congress. The vote on the first cloture motion was 48-51, and on the second motion 49-50. A two-thirds vote is required to bring the debate to an end, and it was evident that almost a full half of the Senate is unwilling to consider this measure which would completely destroy the right of the states to act in this important matter and the right of individuals in the 19 states which have right-to-work laws to be employed without joining a labor union or paying union dues.

It seemed clear to me that the New York transit strike, the munitions factory strike, and other similar strikes which have occurred in recent months and which clearly disregarded the public interest, had much to do with hardening the decision of the Senate, first taken last October, that this legislation was not in the public interest. I am glad to report that Senator Smathers was able to back for these two cloture votes and that we stood together in defending Florida's right-to-work constitutional provision and in opposing the repeal of Section 14(b).

COLD WAR GI BILL

Immediately following action on the above-mentioned matter, the Senate took up and passed unanimously the so-called Cold War GI Bill which grants educational and home loan benefits to veterans serving since 1955 similar to the benefits afforded veterans of the Korean conflict. There had been much difference of opinion on this measure in earlier years, but the fact that so many men of our armed forces have been, in recent months, in men of arms to active warfare in Vietnam and the Dominican Republic brought on the unanimous passage of this bill by both Houses of Congress.

Monkey — Business Managers!

Business Managers and leaders of unions in Miami "flubbed the dub" in not settling a jurisdictional dispute instead of "egging on" physical encounter, or, at least, using their offices to negotiate around a table.

Worse, if the arrogance of Unionism, coddled and favored by the existing Administration in Washington, in presuming to quit fighting the American Public for more and more autocratic license, and start cutting, banging and disfiguring each other on the public streets.

These folks and their like, normally ordinary good Americans, who become enthused with the dictatorial powers already given and promised by vote-conscious politicians, are the ones demanding full authority to direct pay, working hours and conditions for EVERY person who works in the United States.

Like a passel of wolves fighting over the carcass of a common victim, the two unions actually began cutting, and altering the countenances of each other over the spoils given them by the same politicians who double-crossed the public.

And these two unions are reputed to be among the more intelligent and "high class."

These are the folks who demand the fatal authority over you and me and ALL our friends, acquaintances and fellow citizens of the fifty states.

Never was the need for statesmen in Legislative Halls with backbone, integrity and a sense of equity, more sorely needed since the boys wrote and collated in original Constitution!

"Wee is us" in contemplation!

Keep the bottom half of your face closed if the upper half isn't working.

MOL INVESTIGATION

On Tuesday of this week members of the Florida delegation who have a special responsibility in connection with the Kennedy Space Center had an executive briefing with Assistant Secretary of the Air Force, Dr. Alexander Flax, and a group of high-ranking Air Force officers. The subject was the intended move by the Air Force of the Manned Orbital Laboratory shots from Cape Kennedy Vandenberg AFB which is causing all of us deep concern. While the research and development will be continued at Cape Kennedy, the actual manned shots as planned over several years are a major part of this project, and we want to retain them in Florida. Attending the secret briefing were both Senators, Congressman Gurney, Bennett and Herlong, as well as a top staff member from the Senate Armed Services Committee. Congressman Sikes was unable to attend because he was presiding over a vital defense hearing before the House Appropriations Committee. The next stage of this investigation is the hearing before the Senate Space Committee, of which I am a member, on February 24, which will be a closed hearing because of the nature of this project. Just prior to the hearing, several of us had luncheon with William S. Johnson, Vice Chairman of the Florida Development Council, and David C. Coley, Executive Vice President of the Jacksonville Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, relative to the same matter.

Promoting The Do-Nothings!

A great number of people, probably, have never so much as heard of a proposed measure known as HR 8232, which calls for drastic changes in the present federal-state system of unemployment compensation.

Present coverage would be extended in scope: it would strike down present state laws that prevent undeserving claimants from collecting payments. It would guarantee benefits to those discharged for misconduct, who quit a job without cause, and who refuse to accept suitable employment.

Present payroll taxes would be about double within a few years, to be added to recently increased social security requirements.

It would pave the way for outlawing experience ratings whereby employers who maintain stable employment pay less than others.

One industrialist makes this point: "The issue is not the level of benefits; the real issue is WHO will decide what benefits shall be. It would take the system out of the hands of the states, and put it almost entirely under federal control."

Paul Rogers is our Congressman, and Senators Holland and Smathers represent us in the U.S. Senate. All would appreciate an expression of your feelings!

Patriarch Billy Bowlegs

Senator Holland was the Speaker at the dedication of a memorial monument at the Ortona Cemetery near Moore Haven, for Billy Bowlegs, III, on February 23, 1966 and we quote from his address:

Billy Bowlegs III was the third of the great Indian leaders who bore the name Billy Bowlegs. The first two were noted for their warlike qualities and for their leadership of their people in the field of armed conflict. This last of the trio, Billy Bowlegs III, who I understand was not related to either of the others, was the outstanding advocate of peace, progress and adoption by his people of as many of the ways and customs of the white people as he felt could be adapted to the Indians.

Our Billy Bowlegs was born over 100 years ago, in February 1862, on Arbuckle Creek near where it flows into Lake Okechobee. Much of the earlier history concerning him centers at Kalamiee City or on the lakes which are parts of the Kalamiee River basin. The history of his later years relates frequently to Lake Okechobee to the Caloosahatchee River or to other parts of the southern end of the peninsula.

Billy Bowlegs was born during the terrible Civil War and his young manhood was spent in Florida at a time when the earlier founders and developers of Florida were receiving thousands of new settlers who came from the north. He had the chance to see how our state was being developed by a combination of citizens who had been on the southern side and new citizens who had been on the northern side of the great conflict which split our nation asunder. He realized that harmony was being restored between white Americans of different background and convictions and that the task of his people, the small remainder of the Florida Indians who stayed here, was to learn how to live in peace with what he called the "white Americans."

As to his physical appearance in 1886 Mrs. Wilson says: "As a specimen of manhood he is far above the average. Although six feet two inches tall, he is so symmetrically proportioned that one loses sight of his height. His features are good, his hands and feet remarkably small, his voice soft and low—a characteristic of every Seminole." She makes it clear that his reputation as a very great hunter was generally recognized and I suppose, not without a degree of envy of my own. His hunting ability was something that came as naturally to him as our wending our way to work each day comes to us. His honest was of the legendary Seminole variety which was famed in song, story and practice. Incidentally, my father told me that this high degree of honesty was a notable quality of most of the Seminoles with whom he traded while he worked in the Hughes store during his early years at Bartow.

Mrs. Wilson, in her fascinating way, tells of an incident that demonstrates the great lengths Billy would go to preserve his honor. "In 1886 Billy Bowlegs and Tommy Doctor paid an unexpected visit to Kissimmee City. They walked from their camp at Okechobee Marsh, a distance of one hundred and twenty-five miles to tell their white friend that 'Indian no lie.' This was all. They apparently had no other business in town, and after a few hours visit left as quietly as they had come. Their mission was completed—'their white brother believed them'—their honor was clear—they could now dance at the Green Corn Dance with merry hearts.

"A few months prior to this, these Indians had promised their white friend to act as guide on a bear hunt in the Everglades. All arrangements had been made for the hunt, except to fix the time and place of meeting. This was to be done through a white settler. Later, plans for the hunt were perfected and word was sent to the Indian village. According to their promise the Indians came to the settler's home on the day specified, but found that the white man (the settler) had left his house early in the morning with no message as to how or where the Indians should go. The Indians, not knowing which way to go to find the party, could do nothing but return to their camp—a distance of fifty miles. Subsequent developments proved that the white man (the settler) wished to act as guide, and thereby earn for himself the remuneration the Indians expected to receive."

An incident of several years ago clearly shows the courtesy and respect which Billy Bowlegs always showed to U.S. officials of high rank, as well as the genuine friendliness of the man.

In 1961 we were giving the "Hoover Dike" to the levee around Lake Okechobee which was begun during the administrations of the late President Hoover and our beloved former Governor Doyle Carlton. In this project, the President, as an expert engineer, had taken an active interest. President Hoover, then a man of great age, came down to Clewiston to the dedication which was attended by a great and enthusiastic crowd. Shortly before the actual dedicatory ceremonies took place, Billy Bowlegs walked up to the official crowd dressed in the regalia of a Seminole chief, standing straight as an arrow, though he was then 69 years old. He greeted President Hoover cordially and made it clear that he had come to the affair to do honor to the former President. The whole occasion was a most dignified and unforgettable one and I will remember that President Hoover, before leaving the area after the ceremony had been concluded, stated to me that he had rarely appreciated anything so much as he did the unexpected coming of Chief Billy Bowlegs to pay his respects. I think that courteous act of Billy Bowlegs was performed in the finest tradition of the Seminoles. I could never forget the sight of those two splendid old gentlemen standing together with clasped hands and beaming countenances, each enjoying the presence of the other and showing every possible evidence of high mutual respect.

While I deeply appreciated the presence of Billy Bowlegs at the first two occasions mentioned, I thought it was particularly typical of him to show up at the Fort Fraser dedication. You will recall that Fort Fraser, just as Fort Gardiner and Fort Bainger, and for that matter all of the Forts named during the Bachery Taylor campaign, were named in honor of the Battle of Lake Okechobee. Billy Bowlegs was named for officers who had lost their lives in the Dade massacre. Taylor's army regarded itself as an avenging army and their every effort was bent upon vengeance. Probably the most bitter campaign of the whole Seminole war was the Taylor campaign which followed closely after the Dade massacre. Nevertheless, Billy Bowlegs showed up at the occasion when both the campaign and the location of Fort Fraser were being memorialized and set on the platform with me. Without his saying so I felt he was trying to make it clear that his presence indicated that the Seminole Indian had overcome his bitterness of those far off days just as our Governor Carlton's presence here today indicates so clearly the same thing. We all know that Governor Carlton's grandfather was killed by the Indians in the third Seminole war in an engagement south of Fort Meade. I feel that the active participation of such men as he and our late friend Billy Bowlegs in the various friendly affairs which show that the original American people, the Seminoles, and ourselves, have grown closer together and are becoming more and more one people are decidedly in the finest traditions and best interests of our country.

May I recite one rather light incident from Mrs. Minnie Moore-Wilson's book which may throw some additional light on him? "When the Coast towns of Florida were still primitive, a storekeeper had purchased in New York, an old-fashioned organette, that played five tunes. The Seminoles at that time frequently came on purchasing expeditions to these trading villages. Cho-foe-hatch-o (Billy Bowlegs) progressive and musical, listened to the 'box of music' as it played in the little store, and was entranced with the melodies.

"Soon after, the organette refused to go and the trader told his friends that unless he could 'stick it on the Indians,' he would be out thirty-five dollars." A few days later the Chief, with another Indian, came back to the store bringing produce to sell. The white trad-

No Form W-2 File Return Anyway

Many Florida taxpayers may have to file their 1965 Federal income tax return without having received from their employer a wage and tax statement, Form W-2.

Some advice to these taxpayers was offered today by the District Director of Internal Revenue F. S. Schmidt. He suggests:

To get a Form W-2 from your employer. If the employer has gone out of business, contact him or the present owner of the business, and request your Form W-2.

If you do not succeed, prepare your 1965 income tax return from the best information available, and file it before the April 15 deadline. Attach a note to your return explaining why the Form W-2 is missing.

He wanted the Indian's goods and suggested to the Chief that he exchange for the music box, telling the innkeepers, each of the music box no more play, wake up by and by and play good, him tired now."

"The next day, the two Indians went to the storekeeper to show to the storekeeper. That box, him no more tired, and him tired, and the machine which the ingenious Seminole had put into the music box, he had used whole five times to the astonishment and chagrin of the trader. 'Him play good, him tired now, down Oke-chob-ee.'"

And so, speaking for the entire Florida Delegation in Congress, as well as for the state and local officials of Florida and the citizens of Florida, generally, I now dedicate this marker in memory of a very fine man whose friendship I shall always cherish. A little Seminole girl who I understand is his grand-niece, will, just as Billy Bowlegs would have wished it, is a modest, though dignified monument. In concluding my part in the program I merely want to say that I feel greatly honored at having been asked to make this talk and to speak of a man for whose high character and worthwhile accomplishments I have the utmost respect. Speaking particularly for the Polk County Historical Commission and the Peace River Valley Historical Society, I dedicate this marker to the memory of our late, great friend, Billy Bowlegs, III one of the finest leaders ever produced from among the Seminoles of Florida.

The oldest botanic gardens in the Western Hemisphere were established in 1765 in Kingston on the West Indian island of St. Vincent.

Better Fire Protection Planned For So. Bay

South Bay needs additional volunteer firemen, city commissioners were told Monday night. There are only about eight that can be "depended upon to answer calls" at this time according to Fire Chief, Rupert Young.

City Commissioners boosted volunteer firemen's pay to $3.00 for the first hour or any part of an hour, and to $1.50 and hour for each additional hour spent on the job fighting fires. They will also receive $3.00 for attendance at fire drills which commissioners instructed must be held at least once a month.

As a result of Monday's discussion out-of-town fires which the department answers will cost such property owners $25.00 plus actual costs to the city such as salaries, chemicals expended, mileage, and appropriate equipment rental costs.

Clerk Craig advised commissioners that at this time the Belle Glade Fire Department goes on standby alert when fire equipment leaves the city limits of South Bay, and that South Bay reserves the right to refuse to answer fire calls outside the city whenever answering such a call might jeopardize fire protection to South Bay property owners.

Mr. R. Roadman, Roadman Furniture Company was present to urge better fire protection for South Bay. We comply with the requirements of the National Board of Fire Underwriters we would get a better rating which would mean substantial savings to property owners in the premiums they must now pay for fire insurance," Mr. Roadman pointed out.

The recommendations of the Fire Underwriters were read to Commissioners by Clerk Craig. A minimum of 18 volunteer firemen are needed, drills must be held at least once a month, the volunteers must elect a Fire Chief, Assistant Fire Chief, two Captains, and one Lieutenant, additional hose and other equipment must be purchased or brought up to date, maximum distance between fire hydrants is stipulated, and a study of water flows from hydrants under fire demand is required.

City Commissioners instructed that efforts be made to comply with the insurance people's recommendations and that responsible city officials keep the Commission informed of progress toward better fire protection.

Kill this pellitory weed in sugar cane. Use Atrazine. Here's how:

When you see pellitory weed starting to grow, apply Atrazine 80W herbicide, plus a little surfactant. You'll clean out infestations of this winter annual fast and effectively... without hurting cane.

Atrazine is safe to sugar cane. It will not injure your crop when you apply it as directed on the label. And since it's non-volatile, there's no danger of drift to adjacent, sensitive crops.

Even though Atrazine has proved to control pellitory at any stage of growth, early treatment assures best results. With pellitory under control early, you grow more sugar cane per acre.

That's because Atrazine prevents pellitory from interfering with sugar cane tillering. Also, Atrazine helps make soil moisture and nutrients available for your cane, and not for pellitory weed.

So plan now to grow the maximum tonnage of sugar cane from each acre you plant this season. Just use Atrazine to control pellitory weed this winter.

"The Well Dressed Liar" New Comedy At Playhouse

This delightful comment on the current size of universities, twists and turns like a corkscrew and concerns a young man, who, from the registrar's office, forges his diploma, lies to everyone and even cons his way into a large, reputable law firm. Even his adoring wife does not know "the truth." Those attending

Comedian Tom Poston, long-time panelist on "To Tell the Truth," on CBS-TV first came into national prominence as the forgetful "man-on-the-street" on the "Steve Allen Show."

Since then he has compiled a respectable list of credits on and off Broadway, including the Peabody Award, four Emmys, the TV Radio Mirror Award and Monte Carlo International TV Festival Award.

As a singer, dancer and comedienne, she has been in constant demand on the top musical TV shows.

Is God Dear Or 's He Laughing?

By Lewis Llewellyn
When a professor in an Atlanta university, some time ago, declared, "God is dead," he made the headlines. Perhaps that was what he wanted.

But some people took him seriously. Perhaps he wanted that, too. Others treated the statement with the degree of seriousness which it deserved. A letter to the editor of a Tampa newspaper chided the paper for failing to report such an important news event as the death of God. The letter-writer said, "I would like to see . . . the time and day of God's funeral."

NO GOD?
When a Russian cosmonaut reported, after orbiting the earth, that there was no God — because he had looked for Him and had not seen Him — the world was not surprised, because Communists are known to be atheists.

Of course the cosmonaut should have said, "There is no God, so far as I know." There is a curious parallel between the statement of the cosmonaut and that of the so-called theologian in the university in Atlanta.

To be really accurate, the professor should have said, "God is dead, so far as I know."

Some people believe that God has a sense of humor, citing as proof the fact that He made the giraffe and the ostrich. The Bible does not directly state that He has a sense of humor, so far as I know, but there is a Scripture which says "He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh. The Lord shall have them in derision."

This Scripture, however, does not refer to Communist cosmonauts or headline-hunting professors — but to world rulers who determine to rule God out of their domains.

IS HE LAUGHING?
Still, it must be enough to cause God some amusement, at least, for a man who is supposed to be a theologian in a respected, church-related university to make a public statement that the One about Whom he is teaching — is the Eternal One — is now dead.

Some say that the professor did not expect to be taken seriously as meaning that God was really dead, but that he wanted to get our attention, so that we would listen to his theories about theology.

If this is true, he chose a good method of getting attention, but a poor one of gaining respect.

Instead, Smathers told O'Brien in a letter, if the Post Office wants to eliminate a current deficit, the better procedure would be to propose an increase in parcel post rates.

"I fail to see how the Post Office will overcome its parcel post deficit by enlarging the scope of its service," Smathers said.

"It is quite apparent to me that increasing the size and weight limitations will have a serious effect on private enterprise common carriers of freight and express. Pursuing such a course of action is, in my opinion, not only unwise & unwarranted, but is inconsistent with our national transportation policy of free enterprise carriers operating in a free economy."

Leonard Moses War Veteran Buried Tuesday

Leonard Wilson Moses, 50, of 1733 Palm Street, Belle Glade died Saturday in Collier County as the result of a helicopter crash.

A native of Mulberry, Florida he came to Belle Glade seventeen years ago from that city. He worked as a dragnet operator for Thomas Chaney Construction. A veteran of World War Two, he served in the Navy.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Alice Moses and one son, Richard of Belle Glade; four daughters, Miss Martha Moses, Mulberry, Mrs. Shirley Cochran of Lithia, Mrs. Mary Futch of Lakeland and Mrs. Arlene Gussert of Ocala, Alabama; three brothers, Willard and A. W. of Mulberry and O. D. Moses of Lakeland; one sister, Mrs. Thelma Cribbs of Largo.

Credit Bureau, Dalton, Ga., was recognized and made some timely remarks about the Association and its progress over the past years.

Mr. Robert A. Darr, President, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank and President, Federal Land Bank of Columbia, South Carolina, spoke to the group and pointed out trends in agriculture and the upward trend in the money markets of the United States. Mr. Darr foresees tremendous growth for the Association in the next ten years even though money costs are predicted to go even higher.

Gil Lanham, Branch Office Manager of the Belle Glade office reports that the Glades area was well represented. The entire staff of the Belle Glade office attended the meeting and were impressed by the enthusiasm and interest of the local members.

turnover that will take place in the 1967 legislative session.

There is no longer a doubt in the mind of the local legislator that he can hold on to his legislative office. The court has decided this question. Whatever plan is adopted must follow the guide lines laid down by the court. The legislature, in years gone by, has always groped in the dark hoping to make some improvement and then continue changes in future sessions.

The expenditure of some $12,000.00 per day is to be regretted. However, this session could be used to rest the reorganization problems during our lifetime.

I feel that by Monday a plan will have been adopted at which time this session will end.

Telephonic information at press time from Tallahassee is that the Governor proposed a 48-Senator and 108-House arrangement with Congressional Districts as areas of representation in the one-man-one-vote directions of the Fatherly Federal Courts.

Senators and Representatives from the twelve Florida Congressional Districts are meeting at the time of this writing — 3:30 PM Wednesday — attempting to come to some agreement, with indications and probable success.

It is rumored from Tallahassee that a proposal that the Glades be joined with Glades and Hendry counties as a stipulated area of residence of one member of the House, with the entire district voting on our five House and four Senate members.

Information is that the Legislature will work thru Saturday, in the hope of coming up with something by Monday.

We are not informed whether religious services will be a part of the Sunday lay-off, nor if prayerful appeal will be a part of the soul-searching and contemplation of political consequences.

It appears that qualifying limits may be extended for both House and Senate candidates, and a "new day" at hand for groups. A delay of actual election day appears also to be probable.

titles of lake water to the park will require increasing water conveyance capacity of an 85-mile-long network of water channels including use of existing canals and improving borrow pit channels from which material bank has been excavated to build levees, to serve as supplemental canals.

Since the land is too flat for water to flow fast enough by gravity, extensive pumping will be necessary. Also a canal and water retaining levee extending some 10 miles along the east Park boundary to move water to critical points in the Park will be built.

The construction job will cost about $3.5 million and take about a year to complete. The total cost includes a levee along the park boundary.

Pumping will begin within a few days and increased flows can begin moving to the Park in a matter of days.

The State of Florida and the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District will share 20 percent of the construction cost. The cost of pumping water for Park, estimated to cost upwards of $150,000 per year, depending upon the amount moved, will be paid by the Federal Government. Pumping service will be provided by the Flood Control District, which may pump at its own expense, also for the benefit of Greater Miami.

The State of Florida and the Flood Control District have agreed to pass Lake Okechobee water through its project system to the park, which will reduce possible wastage to the set, when the Lake's level must be lowered and kept at a low level for public protection from flooding in anticipation of and during the hurricane season.

Also, the State has agreed to release water to the park when the Lake is below critical flood stages, consistent with water supply needs for the entire area, but above the minimum permissible stage of 12.5 feet above mean sea level. A water release schedule is being worked out with the State and the Flood Control District.

Work to carry out the diversion is being undertaken by Col. R. P. Tabb, the Jacksonville District Engineer, in cooperation with the National Park Service of the Department of Interior, the State of Florida and the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District. Canal capacity will be provided for moving up to 1,000 cubic feet of water per second into the Park, as required. This would provide for minimum annual needs of the Park, except in years when lake levels are very low. Also, these canals will provide flexibility to supply more water for Greater Miami.

Initial construction will be started this spring. This water conveyance system will provide interim protection and will be a part of a permanent plan for Southern Florida's compressive water resources problems and requirements.

The remainder of the plan is under study by the Jacksonville District. A report is scheduled to be made in late 1967.

Cattle Prices Still Going Up

Cattle prices are still going up according to Pete Clemmons, Mgr. of Glades Livestock Market concerning Monday's sale. Slaughter steers are up $1.00, slaughter cows up 50 cents, slaughter calves up $1.50 to $2.00. Stocker cattle are up again too, with stocker steers up $1.50 to $2.00, heifers up $1.00 to $1.50. Stockers are steady and calves up $1.00 to $1.50. Monday's sales were $55,759 with a total of 557 head. 45 percent went to slaughter and 55 percent to stocker.

The mystery of color in certain diamonds has been explained by scientists. Research has disclosed that most diamonds contain particles of nitrogen gas and carbon; amount and arrangement of the nitrogen atoms determines a diamond's hue.

Protect Nuts
The oily nature of nuts causes them to become rancid and stale when exposed to air, moisture and warmth. Food specialists advise keeping nuts in tightly sealed containers or in moisture and vapor-proof wrappings in the refrigerator or freezer to prolong their freshness. Large nutmeats stay fresh longer than chopped or round ones.

Refinishing Floors There's more than one way to redo floors. But, what you do depends in part on basic floor condition. If it's good but the finish has faded, just apply a new finish to the existing floor. If it's not as smooth as you'd like resurface the floor and then add your choice of finish. If the floor would look better in a non-clear finish, coat it with a bright and decorative enamel.

Scott's Bar-Package Store Victim Of Attempted Holdup

Elite Scott, 54, owner of Scott's Bar and Package Store, was the victim of an attempted holdup last Thursday. An investigation is being conducted by Police Chief O. J. Senecal.

Scott told assistant Chief James Mathis the holdup man came into the store while he was alone at the bar, and was carrying a .38 caliber revolver. Scott was carrying his own .38 in a shoulder holster and while he wrestled with the bandit the gun discharged.

Scott fired six shots from the revolver and then picked up a shot gun and fired two more shots at the fleeing intruder. The holdup occurred about 11 p. m. and a check of the area failed to produce any suspect.

Viet Nam And What It Means

By Eddie Guzman

The Viet Nam situation has virtually dominated the news in this country for more than a few months. Radio and television have and still are blasting the facts of war to the listening public. Newspapers and magazines are carrying daily and weekly articles and editorials concerning the half-hearted effort. Questions are arising that are hard, if not impossible for authorities to answer. How will the war effect our economy? Will taxes be raised? Are the people of South Viet Nam really interested in winning the war? Is a military victory possible without bringing Red China into the conflict? Do we really know what we are doing? Should bombing be increased? Is the effort really worth it?

Any way that anyone looks at it, the war is not going to be easily settled. The answers to the above questions and the meaning of the entire conflict are a bit more involved than most Americans realize.

To begin with, one important fact must be brought to light: to lose in Viet Nam is to lose the entire world of Southeast Asia to the rampaging Communists. The idea of this war is not only to win South Viet Nam over to democracy, but to get a democratic toe onto South East Asian soil and to show Hanoi and Peking and the rest of the world that the United States will not be pushed from winning. The problem now facing us is this: How do we live up to our commitments and emerge from Viet Nam with honor and dignity?

Now that the question of whether we are to stay and fight has been answered, it is up to the American public to back the President and the American interest. Burning of a draft card solves nothing, it only tends to entangle the already delicate situation. When one American is involved it is every American's business.

As of now there are approximately 200,000 American fighting men in Viet Nam. If the military frustration continues, the number may rise to 600,000 by 1969. The President is determined to win the war regardless of sacrifice. Many homes will be saddened as more people involved. But this is part of the price of greatness and leadership to which the United States has pledged itself.

While the United States will not budge in Viet Nam, it must be remembered that we are not planning to fight an everlasting conflict. The conference table is the ultimate goal. As Senator Smathers put it in "Washington Newsletter." Though the way ahead is dark and filled with uncertainty, I am convinced that we must continue to stand strong in the field of battle while vigorously pursuing any and all paths that could lead us to the conference table.

For those who continue to question our very right to be in Viet Nam, we shall turn to a statement in 1947 by former President Truman. He said "I believe that it must be the policy of the United States to support free peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or by outside pressures."

It must be remembered that the United States stronghold of democracy, is the leader of the free world. Our every move is scrutinized by our allies as well as our opposition. We have been playing the part of the good samaritan, and there is not any need to be ashamed of it. If we left these oppressed people to their fate our conscience would not let us sleep.

Cadet Teachers Return To Elementary In May

taught and observed in elementary classes at the beginning of this year, the students will return to evaluate the progress the classes have made since December. The final decision to continue the program was made by the coordinators Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Spooner, at a brief meeting of members and sponsors February 21.

A regular business meeting will be held March 3, in order to make further plans.

Devils Win Over Belle Glade To Become Class A Tourney Champs

With only nine seconds remaining, the Crusaders had the ball and were in a controlling freeze. But then Joe Merkle, a sophomore, fired a shot and missed. The Brahams grabbed the rebound and charged down court. As Okeechobee's Darryl Engender drove in for a lay up with two seconds remaining he was fouled by John Ferrell.

Yearbook Is Off

The journalism class met its last deadline last Friday when the final pages of the 1966 yearbook were mailed first class to Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas. Now the long wait begins.

The completed book, with many changes and surprises, is expected back early in May.

Each of the twenty journalism students has had a part in putting together the 1966 yearbook. The work was exciting but sometimes tedious and hard. Each student came into the class in September with an idea of what he wanted in a yearbook. Because of limitations and requirements, the Rambler is a composite of ideas and compromises. It is, as everyone hopes, the best yearbook yet to be published by B. G. H. S.

Who Is It?

This male homo sapien is often seen wandering the hallowed halls of Belle Glade High School with a female homo sapien close behind. When asked to identify the above photo, these were the reactions:

BARNEY W. - "It looks like Micky Maghee"
LARRY V. - "That's Gary Wall"

RICHARD V. - "Why that's Ole Jane W. - I mean Hoss."
IVAN W. - "You got me!"
TANYA C. - "That's Ivan W. I think."

DEE DEE M. - "Oh! He looks so mean - looks like Riley Foster!"
LIBBY W. - "Looks like Hoss Cartwright."
DON P. - "Looks like Riley Foster!"

SARA P. - "He's cute. I know who it is - it's Riley Foster!"

ALISON C. - "Haven't the faintest idea!"
JERRY F. - "I know who it is - it's Riley Foster!"

ALICE S. - "I don't know!"
COMMANDER W. - "It looks like Riley Foster (since I looked on the back of the picture)."
RILEY F. - "It's a nice looking kid - I think it's me!"

As you may have already guessed, this adorable picture of sweet innocence is indeed Riley Foster.

THE MEANING OF LUCK
Everyone wants success - many men are blind to the qualities necessary to achieve this goal. Instead, they wait and hope for a "lucky break." Failing to realize that "luck" is what happens when preparation meets opportunity.

Engender then dropped in two free throws giving Okeechobee an unexpected 57-56 victory. With this victory the Brahms then played Belle Glade Friday night.

Friday night opener started at 7 p. m. With Pahokee playing Martin County, Pahokee trailed Martin County most of the way before taking the lead 55-53 with 1:00 remaining in the final period. The Blue Devils then went into a freeze, with the clock showing only 35 seconds left in the game. But then a jump shot attempt by Blue Devil Mike Sanders the ball was lost to the Tigers. A missed hook shot by Ricky Scrammell, Pahokee then recovered the ball. Tim Gillis sank a free throw with seven seconds to go.

Mike Sanders added a tip in at the buzzer for the final margin with a Pahokee victory 58-53.

In the second game the Belle Glade Rams overpowered the Okeechobee Brahms with a Ram-victory 77-54.

The Rams Cary Jones finished with 21 points, Queen Wilson had 18 markers and Davis bucketed 15 counters. The team finished the night by hitting on 32 of 74 shots from the floor.

With Jones throwing in four field goals and Davis three, the Rams crushed at the half 39-26.

Belle Glade held a 24-point advantage at 61-37 by the end of the third quarter. This allowed coach Therrill Luke to empty his bench.

The gym held a capacity crowd Saturday night to see the two rivals play.

Cary Jones and Queen Wilson each had 13 points for the host team, and Harry Chaney picked up 13, while Tony Latour adding 11 for the Rams.

Belle Glade led in the contest 34-31, at halftime and at the end of the third period the two teams were tied, 47-47. A 23-point final period surge decided the game for Pahokee.

Dr. Soto Informs Para-Meds
Dr. Manuel Soto as the guest speaker for the Para-medical Club, at their February meeting held at the Glades General Hospital. His main topic was - what a Dr. expects from a Para-medical nurse, while in surgery. The club plans to have Dr. Soto speak again this year.

March 12, the club will have a car wash. Tickets will be sold before hand. The State Convention was discussed but, no definite plans were made.

Refreshments were served afterwards. The next meeting will be March 15.

Mrs. Carter Addresses Future Nurses

and they are on the GO! A good choice for the "Club of the Year" award would be the Para Medics and there are various reasons why? Last week was National Para Medical Week. The girls of this organization did a fine job of showing that there is a Para Medical Club in Belle Glade. These were some of the projects taken on by the members last week:

WILL IT BE A NURSES DEGREE? OR A MRS. DEGREE?
A play was presented by the Para Medical Club to show the contrast between a dedicated nurse and a worldly ambitious nurse.

The character's are as follows: Doctor-Leslie Cowart, Dedicated Nurse: Janice White, Undedicated Nurse: Pat Williams, Patient: Gail Parker, Nurses: Barbara Meeks and Cheryl Stone; Teacher, Janice Blumhail.

Mother, Barbara Williams; Speaker, Ivy Barrett, and Narrator, Mary Kate Ponsler. Mrs. Joan Lanier assisted Mrs. Hazel Litchfield in presenting the skit. The play was given before the student body in an assembly lasting about 45 minutes.

SOMETHING'S BEEN COOKIN'
Mary Leigh Amerine was in charge of the Bake Sale to raise money to send girls to the State Convention. Bake centers were at B&B, Kwik Chek, Post Office and Garnts. Cakes, cookies and fudge were sold. Numerous members of the club assisted in bringing about this successful project.

STRIPES SWEET!
A candy stripe is a nurse's aid. Her duties range from helping feed patients to arranging flowers. Girls who are interested in becoming Candy Strippers will have to take a 16 hour course on the Do's and Don'ts of the hospital given by Mrs. Carter, Director of Nursing.

The Para Medical girls all have a chance of becoming a Candy Striper. There are Para Medics members serving as Candy Strippers now. DOCTOR! DID YOU SAY SCISSORS OR SCAPULE?

A display was shown in the main corridor of the high school consisting of medical instruments and equipment. All objects were borrowed by Pat Williams from the Glades Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Litchfield feels that boys should take Home Economics or at least the second year, which covers the engagement period through the first year of the baby's life. The creed of a nurse is, "I expect to pass this world but once. Any fellow therefore I can do, or any kindness I can show to any fellow creature, let me do it now. Let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

The motto is, "Wherever there is a human being, there is an opportunity for human kindness." The creed and motto were also shown on the display.

SOAKING 'N' SUDS
CAR WASH
Another money project the Para Medical Club had was the car wash in front of the Bank of Belle Glade. Girls assisting were Sandy Betts, Cindy Winterwood, Joanne Harris, Leona Felsing, and Ivy Barrett.

The Para Medics are on the go and will continue on the go. The Para Meds should be congratulated on a job well done!

Rams Begin Baseball Season
Spring is just around the corner and baseball season has already begun. Practice began on February 21, and the first scheduled game is on March 8. Lake Worth is the worthy opponent.

Baseball, like football and basketball, is a great sport for B. G. H. S. players and fans. Football season was great, basketball season was extremely good, and feeling is that baseball season will also be great.

During baseball season, the afternoons after school are especially eventful. Many students stay after school to see the Rams defeat their opponents.

Riley Foster, a senior player, says that "Several lettermen returning and a lot of experience give the Rams an advantage over the other teams in the conference."

This year the Rams also have a new coach, Mr. Ross Webb. The players feel that this will help them to win the oncoming baseball games.

finding harmonious relationships

Real harmony between men depends on something greater than ourselves. To find it, and be a part of it, requires humility. You turn with spiritual longing to the one great Creator of whom Jesus said: "The Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works." Hear this public lecture on "Discovering Harmonious Relationships Through Christian Science." The speaker will be HERBERT E. RIECKE, C.S.B., a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Thursday, (tonight) is the young peoples service night and is on the Junior and Senior High level to promote their Christian worship.

March is the month for the New Life series of the Church of God Sunday school enlargement drive. The local Church of God will endeavor to have a greater percentage going than any other Church of God in the same membership category.

Pastor M. W. Sindle invites you to Sunday School this month if you do not attend church elsewhere.

First Church Of Christ Scientist

The absolute equality of all men in the sight of God is the theme of this week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Man," to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday. Bible references include Paul's interpretation of this fundamental spiritual principle: "For we are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus . . . There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus" (Galatians).

Parallel references from the denomination's textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include this statement: "Through spiritual sense you can discern the heart of divinity, and thus begin to comprehend in Science the generic term man."

Area Ministers To Meet Mar. 9

The monthly meeting of the Belle Glade Area Ministerial Association will be held Wednesday morning, March 9th, at 8:30 A. M. The meeting will be conducted in the conference room of the Glades General Hospital following a breakfast served in the hospital cafeteria.

All duly ordained or appointed clergymen are cordially invited to attend.

Lutheran Church Take Time Worship Services . . . For God

The sermon theme for Sunday, March 6th, at St. Peter's Lutheran Church is "Repentance unto Salvation," II Corinthians 7:1-12. Sunday School and Bible class, 9:15 A. M. Divine worship, 10:30 A. M. Reverend R. V. Roseman, pastor.

Mid-week Lent services are held each Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. The sermons and the film-strip series depict the moving events of the Holy Week.

On Wednesday, March 2nd, "The New Covenant" was presented. The title of next week's film-strip and sermonette is "The Betrayers." The Betrayers of Jesus included both Judas and us. While the betrayal by Judas led to the arrest, trial, and death of Jesus, we, by our daily betrayals of Him, are equally guilty of His death. But as this service aptly brings out, Christ went to His death to redeem all betrayals, Judas and us.

These same film-strips are viewed by the Kindergarten of St. Peter's Lutheran Church immediately after their worship services on Thursday mornings. Both the Kindergarten and the Sunday school were privileged this past week to view another film-strip, "Christ goes to Chinatown," a movie portraying the evangelizing of Chinatown in Vancouver, B. C., Canada.

The Guild voted to have small cards printed to be used with the Alford flowers when they are delivered to the sick. Mrs. Richard Poston reported on the Denney meeting at Jupiter that she attended, also Mrs. Thomas Bregger and Mrs. Winchester.

Sons and professional workers to meet the need of changing communities in the United States.

...and FORGIVENESS

Sin is a disagreeable word that millions shun. It casts a shadow of separation. It raises chill thoughts of an impenetrable and eternal barrier between humanity and God. . . .

Forgiveness on the other hand is a warm and inspiring word. It promises that life's slate can be wiped clean. It brings us close to God — and to one another.

An Execution on a Friday centuries ago . . . an Empty Tomb in the dawn of the first Easter Day . . . a Faith that has gripped human souls for all the generations since — these are forever entwined with the stark realization of man's sin and the blessed assurance of God's forgiveness.

That is why, when we think deeply of the meaning of these words — of their implication in our own lives — we find ourselves at the very heart of the Christian religion.

And it is why these soul-stirring words at the threshold of Christ's suffering have long been the center of such searching thought!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good will. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plans to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"My Pen Pal"

I received a letter from a friend Friday. She lives in Tampa and usually comes to Belle Glade during the summer to visit her cousin. She finally ended the letter by saying that company had arrived. Guess who? Yes, you guessed right. It was her favorite companion — boys!

I wonder why she never talks about Milton and Brenda? I wonder why she never mentions the fact that we were studying a unit on letter writing and one of the important things we learned was that the contents of a friendly letter should be lively and interesting to its reader and not read like a mutual admiration society. Do you think that she got the message?

Well, there is such a place right here in our midst. You may wonder where? Well, I'll tell you — it's right here at Lake Shore Jr.-Sr. High. The name of this luxurious, fabulous, cultured mansion is the Lake Shore High Library.

In this place, you will find information on every subject from our little metropolis, Belle Glade to Timbuktu. You will find books on all subjects in various sizes, shapes and color.

Students, this is really where the action is, and the admission is free. If you return for your time spent there, you will gain gratifying results, in terms of education, culture and relaxation, culture and relaxation.

"TELEPHONE COURTESIES"

Telephone comes into its own during the teen years. The instrument which was used only casually during childhood is jealously guarded by adolescents as a price less means of communication.

It is well to master the know-how of telephoning since most teenagers live with their families where they share the use of the telephone. Certain good courtesies are expected. For example, when you put thru a call, ask at once for the person to whom you wish to speak, giving your name so that he will know to whom he is speaking immediately. Then give the message you wish to deliver.

If the person is not there you may leave a message if it is short and simple, but if it is a long, involved message, leave word that you will call back. Long involved messages are a nuisance and are hard to transmit. If you cannot get your message into a few words, leave word that you would like to call your call returned. Thank the person with whom you have been talking and hang up courteously.

When the telephone rings do not quickly take it for granted that it may be someone calling you. Give the person on the other end a chance to identify himself. Your salutation, starts best with "your identification."

After the business of a call has been transacted, you should hang up politely with some parting closing. Your salutation, starts best with "your identification."

Remember these points in telephoning:

1. Speak clearly so that the other party may understand what you are saying.

2. Never start a guessing game such as "Guess who this is?"

3. Never dial a number unless you know to whom you wish to speak.

4. Always use the number that you are dialing.

Senior Portraits

On Thursday, February 17, 1966, the members of the senior class received a name portrait as a composite stating that the senior portraits that were taken December 15, 1965 had arrived.

Each senior eagerly rushed down to get his individual portrait plus a composite portrait of the entire senior class.

Seniors are presently looking forward to two more attractions, the senior class play and the ring ceremony. Both attractions are scheduled for the month of March. During the ring ceremony, each senior will receive his class ring.

Each person in the community is invited to help make this a memorable year for the class of '66.

Book Of The Week

THE ENCHANTED ISLANDS, Blinn, Archie

Would you really like to visit an enchanted island with all of its beautiful surroundings? If so, then try our picture-story novel of the week.

During the summer, the Hill and Eden family rented summer houses near Seattle for the purpose of boating, however, Mr. Eden became so involved with his new business until he had to postpone the family's return, hearing trip. The Eden children decided to contact the Hill family concerning their problem and of course Mr. Hill readily consented for the Eden family to accompany them.

While everyone was preparing for the trip, the Hill family had an unexpected guest and this upset both families. After a long consultation with both parents present, the Hill and Eden children are allowed to go on the trip alone.

The trip lasted ten days and during this time, the children had many fabulous adventures. They met another boy with a small boat whose name was Gabriel. After meeting Gabriel many strange things began to occur which proved to be very mysterious.

If you would like to know more about this story, we suggest that you visit your library and read this heart-warming novel.
